“Dems Fill ‘The Reserve’ for Annual District 24 Roundup” Popular “Punching Up” columnist

Trygve Hammer delighted about 140 locals attending the annual District 24 Dem-NPL Roundup held Thursday, October 30 at The Reserve at Woodland in Valley City. Hammer, who was North Dakota’s Dem-NPL candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives in 2024, held his audience’s attention with a blend of humor and straight talk about what makes his party strong. Hammer underscored the party’s values of honor and courage, which he internalized during his U.S. Naval and Marine Corps career. But, he said, “They (the opposition party) don’t treat others in an honorable way, and they don’t tell the truth.” With that comment, Hammer’s audience erupted in applause.

Other speakers on Thursday presented touching remembrances of Larry Robinson and George Gaukler, both prominent Democratic-NPL leaders from Valley City who passed away in 2024. Robinson, who was extremely active in community organizations, served as District 24’s State Senator for 32 years. A lifelong supporter of VCSU, he retired in 2024 as executive director of university advancement.

For many years, Gaukler headed up the North Dakota Dem-NPL, making significant contributions to both state and district campaigns. Throughout his life, he remained a respected political leader and adviser. In District 24 he was also a successful businessman, community builder and philanthropist.

Emcee and auctioneer at Thursday’s Dem-NPL Roundup was District Chair Linda Brastrup Johnson. She urged the enthusiastic audience to “Get involved, talk with your neighbor, run for office.”

Honoring Susan Schlecht

In 2009 Susan took on the challenge of saving this building.

The following things were done by capital campaigns and grants

New roof fixed the holes in the floors

Refinished floors new wiring

Besides all of the work in the building she also took care of the business side of the museum. She also did the displays and maintained the artifacts and the records of the artifacts.
