

Second-grade teacher resigns

By Luann Dart

luann@westriv.com

Fifteen minutes before the Elgin-New Leipzig School District board of education was scheduled to meet to act on a recommendation to discharge him, second-grade teacher Barry Striegel submitted his resignation to the board. During a special meeting Oct. 23, the school board unanimously voted to immediately accept Striegel's resignation. The meeting was called for 8 a.m. to act on Superintendent Dr. Sherlock Hirning's recommendation to discharge Striegel for cause. Striegel submitted his letter of resignation by email to Hirning at 7:45 a.m., just prior to the special board meeting convening. Following what Hirning described as concerns with Striegel's conduct and performance as a classroom teacher, none of which impacted the safety of students, Striegel was placed on paid administrative leave as of the end of day Oct. 2 and has been on paid leave since that day. Striegel started his position with the district in August as the second-grade teacher. Elizabeth Hands, a paraeducator with a substitute teaching license and who is pursuing her teaching degree, has been leading the classroom and will remain as a long-term substitute, mentored by Roxann Tietz. Hirning advised the board members not to share confidential information. "Please do not be engaging in any conversations about the situation," he advised the board members.
