Hunters Should Be Aware of Early Ice

The North Dakota Game and Fish Department warns hunters to be wary of ice conditions. In some parts of the state, there are smaller waters that show the appearance of safe ice. Hunters should be cautious of walking on frozen stock ponds, sloughs, creeks and rivers. Ice can form overnight, resulting in unstable conditions. Ice thickness is not consistent, as it can vary significantly within a few inches. Hunters walking the edge of a cattail slough will not find the same ice thickness in the middle, as the edges firm up faster than farther out from shore.

A few reminders:
Snow insulates ice, which in turn inhibits solid ice formation, and hides cracks, weak and open water areas.
Avoid cracks, pressure ridges, slushy or darker areas that signal thinner ice. The same goes for ice that forms around partially submerged trees, brush, embankments or other structures.
Daily temperature changes cause ice to expand and contract, affecting its strength.

NDSU Extension to Host Virtual Income Tax Management Program For Ag Producers

North Dakota State University Extension will offer a tax management program to agricultural producers and tax preparers from 1 to 4 p.m. CST on Monday, Dec. 1, via Zoom.

The program will be moderated by Ron Haugen, NDSU Extension farm management specialist.

"This program provides an excellent opportunity for agricultural producers and tax preparers to learn and ask questions about tax management alternatives while there is still time to implement year-end tax management decisions," says Haugen.

The program will feature presentations by Mercean Lam, Internal Revenue Service; Russ Tweiten, Ag Country Farm Credit Services; Rob Holcomb, University of Minnesota Extension and JC Hobbs, Oklahoma State University Extension.

Program topics include the following:

- Federal income tax updates
- Lease and easement income reporting
- IRS updates
- Identity theft and breaches
- Tax management upon retirement
- Depreciation, like-kind exchanges
- Disaster provisions and reporting
- Qualified business income
- Tax planning

Preregistration is required by Nov. 25. The cost for the virtual program and materials is $25. To register, visit ndsugov.com/incometax.

An email address is required to register for the meeting, and a connection to Zoom is required to participate. Registered attendees will receive the Zoom link and materials link by email on Wednesday, Nov. 26. All participants will have the opportunity to ask questions via the chat box.

All program materials will be posted for downloading prior to the meeting. Continuing education credits will not be offered.

For additional information or questions, contact Paulann Haakenson at paulann.haakenson@ndsugov.com or 701-231-7393.
