Dear Savvy Senior,

I have been thinking about planning my funeral in advance so my kids won't have to later but would like to inquire about prepaying. Is it a good idea to prepay for a funeral that you might not need for a while?

Aging Annie

Planning your funeral in advance is definitely a smart move. Not only does it give you time to make a thoughtful decision on the type of service you want, it also allows you to shop around to find a good funeral provider, and it will spare your adult children the burden of making these decisions at an emotional time.

But preplanning a funeral doesn't mean you have to prepay too. In fact, the Funeral Consumer Alliance, a national nonprofit funeral consumer protection organization, doesn't recommend it unless you need to spend down your financial resources so you can qualify for Medicaid. Here's what you should know.

Preneed Arrangements

Most funeral homes today offer what is known as "preneed plans" which allow you to prearrange for the type of funeral services you want and prepay with a lump sum or through installments. The funeral home either puts your money in a trust fund with the payout triggered by your death or buys an insurance policy naming itself as the beneficiary.

For example, if you have a life insurance policy, many policies will pay a lump sum when you die to your beneficiaries to be used for your funeral expenses. The payment is made soon after you die and doesn't have to go through probate.

Or you could set up a payable-on-death (POD) account at your bank or credit union, naming the person you want to handle your arrangements as the beneficiary. POD accounts also are called Totten Trusts. With this type of account, you maintain control of your money, so you can tap the funds in an emergency, collect the interest and change the beneficiary. When you die, your beneficiary collects the balance without the delay of probate.

Can you cancel the contract and get a full refund if you change your mind?

Will your money earn interest? If so, how much? Who gets it?

If there is an insurance policy involved, is there a waiting period before it takes effect? How long?

Are the prices locked in or will an additional payment be required at the time of death?

Are you protected if the funeral home goes out of business or if it's bought out by another company?

What happens if you move? Can the plan be transferred to another funeral home in a different state?

If there's money left over after your funeral, will your heirs get it, or does the home keep it?

If you decide to prepay, be sure to get all the details of the agreement in writing and give copies to your family so they know what's expected. If they aren't aware that you've made plans, your wishes may not be carried out. And if they don't know that you've prepaid the funeral costs, they could end up paying for the same arrangements.

Other Payment Option

While prepaying your funeral may seem like a convenient way to go, from a financial point of view, there are better options available.

No American president has been an only child.

In 1954, the mayor of the wine-growing town Chateauneuf-du-Pape in France issued a memorable decree that banned the "flying over, landing or taking off of flying saucers." It's unclear whether anyone ever considered how such an event should be handled should it defiantly occur.

Spiders, like humans, can have arachnophobia. Small wonder, since certain species regularly eat each other: for food, after mating and for other reasons scientists don't yet fully understand.

This tip will change your life when peeling eggs: After you have hard-boiled your eggs, drain them and leave them in the pot. Put the lid on the pot and shake. Shake in all directions for up to a minute. The eggs practically slip right out of their shells. Just rinse and prep.

"I feed my kitty cat outside on the back porch, but she eats a little at a time, and whenever she took a break, the ants would be all over her food. Now I serve my little princess in a teacup and saucer I found at a thrift store. I put the food in the cup and then put a little water in the saucer. The teacup sits in the water on the saucer. The ants won't get the food ever, because they can't cross the water to get to it. Kitty is very happy now that she can take her time." — O.W. in Arkansas

"To distinguish your keys, especially house keys that have similar stamps, simply paint the key head with different colors of nail polish. You could even add a very subtle dot of the matching polish on the key lock. Reapply as needed." — S.L. in Oregon

"Use a flat iron to iron your collar if it's rumpled. This also works to straighten out button holes that have crimped." — M.E. in Maryland

"To mark the end on a roll of tape, save your bread tabs. Stick it on the end and it will be ready and easy to start the next time you need tape. If it's a thick tape, you can use two clips — one at either side of the tape. This way, it won't split on you." — M.E. in Maryland
